FRIDAY MORNING, JAN. 4, 1867.

The "Official Organ" Manufactures a Supreme Court Opinion.

By quoting what was written two years ago by the present editor of the "official organ," we have at last driven him to a direct affirmance of an intelligible proposition. We showed that two years ago he maintained that the citizens of the rebel States were alien enemies, not citizens of the United States; that the loyal and disloyal of the seceding States were upon the same footing and were alike enemies of the National Government, and that the Southern Confederacy was an independent nation whose citizens were absolved from their allegiance to the United States, and owed exclusive allegiance to the Confederate Government. Not being able to deny the record, he declares with singular frankness that he holds that the "Union was dissolved by the war and restored by peace." We are exceedingly thankful to have succeeded in extorting so plain a proposition from one who makes it his constant study to state his positions so ambiguously as to make them answer to any interpretation which may be given them.

So then, "the Union was dissolved by war and restored by peace." The insurrectionary States, then, ceased to be members of the Federal Union. Their citizens ceased to be citizens of the United States. Any State or combination of States may therefore declare their connections with the Union dissolved, and their citizens are from that moment released from their obligations to the National Government. They become foreigners at once. They put off the duties of citizens of the United States and are safe from the penalties of the laws. The "Confederate States of America" were a sovereign power. There was an independent Government, upon the same footing with the Government of the United States. Concede all these points, and it becomes interesting to inquire how States which, only a little while ago constituted a sovereign, independent power, whose citizens were "aliens" and whose territory was beyond the lawful and rightful jurisdiction of the United States, could, without an act of Congress, have got back into the Union with all their rights unimpaired, with their people changed from "aliens" into citizens, on a perfect equality with other citizens of the United States. If those States were actually severed from the Union as the "official organ" affirms, they are in the same condition still. Congress has not brought them back, nor has it passed any act naturalising their citizens. Their "official organ" would teach the doctrine that States can go out of the Union and come in at pleasure. Join its editor's declaration that the "Union was dissolved by the war" with his denial of the right of the Government to "coerce the obedience of sovereign States," and we have the State rights, secession doctrine in it its full force and meaning.

The "official organ" tells us that, in affirming that the Union was dissolved and that the citizens of the South were aliens to the Government, it adds "neither more nor less than is confirmed by the decisions of the Supreme Court. A paragraph is quoted to establish its position, which purports to be a portion of the opinion of the United States Supreme Court in the Hiawatha prize case, but which does not contain a single sentence correctly quoted. The decision of the Court is exactly the reverse of what the "official organ" tries to make it. The South was recognized as a belligerent, and the "organ" argues from this fact that she was an independent nation and that her citizens were aliens to the United States. The Court in the case above cited says: "It is not necessary to constitute a war, that both parties should be acknowledged as independent nations or sovereign States. A war may exist where one of the belligerents claims sovereign rights as against the other. * * * When the party in rebellion occupy and hold in a hostile manner a certain portion of territory; have declared their independence; have organized armies, have commenced hostilities against their former sovereign, the world acknowledges them as belligerents, and the contest a war. They claim to be in arms to establish liberty and independence, while the sovereign party treats them as insurgents and rebels who owe allegiance and who should be punished with death for their treason." Here we find the very decision which the "official organ" pretends to quote from to establish its position that the Confederacy was a sovereign power and that its citizens were "aliens" to the United States, affirming the directly opposite doctrine. The Court says the citizens of the insurgent States were not aliens, but rebels who owed allegiance; and that the sovereign party always holds such persons guilty of treason.

The "official organ" cites the following as a portion of the opinion of the Court:

> Under our very peculiar Constitution, citizens not only owe allegiance to the United States but the State in which we live. Hence the people acted as States in rising in hostility against the United States.

To show the dishonesty of this pretended quotation, let us cite what the Court did actually say:

> Under the very peculiar Constitution of this Government, although the citizens own supreme allegiance to the Federal Government, they owe also a qualified allegiance to the State where they are domiciled. Hence in organizing this rebellion they have acted as States claiming to be sovereign over all persons and property within their respective limits.

By garbling this extract the "official organ" tries to make it appear that full powers of sovereignty inhered in the seceding States as well as the General Government, and that the allegiance of the citizen was due to the former in an equal degree as to the latter. The Court says that citizens "own a supreme allegiance to the General Government and a qualified allegiance only, to the States." Therefore the citizen must adhere to the former as against the latter.

The Court no where pronounces that during the war the territory of the revolted States was "foreign territory" or that their people were "aliens." That is a doctrine of the Democratic party, and was invented to shield rebels from punishment. The relations of the revolted States with the Government of the Union were simply broken off by the rebellion and have not yet been renewed. Belligerent rights were accorded to the rebels during the war simply because it was for the interest and convenience of the Government to take this course. This act did not make the rebels "aliens," nor relieve them from the consequences of the crime of treason. This much we have proved from that very decision of the Supreme Court which the "official organ" relies on to establish the opposite doctrine. Its editor is not more successful in garbling and perverting Supreme Court decisions than in explaining away the treasonable record he made during the war.

The Salt Lake Vedette says the distance by the Central Pacific, Union Pacific, and their connections, from New York to San Francisco will be as follows:

	Miles.	Miles
New York to Chicago	927	1,405
To Omaha	491	91
To Laramie Plains	580	1,988
To Green River	245	2,233
To Salt Lake City	215	2,448
To Humboldt Wells	238	2,686
To California State Line	163	2,849
To San Francisco	130	2,958

This distance can be made by rail in six days and nights, and Captain Bates confidently expects that the entire road will be completed during the year 1870.

The New Orleans Tribune advocates the election of B. F. Butler as President in 1868. Were he elected he would make it entirely safe and proper to hold Union Conventions in New Orleans and throughout the South generally.

By Overland Telegraph.

[DESPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO DECEMBER 29.

Tragedy in Minnesota.

St. Paul, Dec. 28.—On Christmas, at New Ulm, three men were playing cards, when one named Skinner was stabbed so badly that he soon died to death. The others were arrested by the sheriff, and while on the way to the magistrate's handcuffed, were rescued by a drunken mob and hung. While hanging their bodies received a number of cuts from knives. New Ulm is on the frontier, and was the scene of the Indian tragedy in 1862.

From Ireland.

New York, Dec. 28.—The Herald's correspondent in Ireland, under date of December 16th, says the Fenian excitement raged at fever heat. Six British war vessels were off Queenstown to protect loyal and wealthy inhabitants. In several districts troops have garrisoned the towns for safety. Stephens was thought to be in the South. It was said a rising would take place immediately in the counties of Cork, Waterford, Limerick and Kilkenny, the Fenian centres forming a quadrilateral.

New York Postoffice—Fenians.

New York, Dec. 28.—The committee to select a postoffice site have fixed the value at $150,000 dollars. The Postmaster General will apply to Congress for an appropriation to purchase.

An action has been commenced in the Supreme Court against ex-street commissioner Cornell.

The Mayor and Aldermen are charged with unlawfully converting $3,890,133 of the city funds.

Bogus swindlers in Paris, committed by the largest silk and lace importers by underrating invoices have come to light. One firm will be compelled to pay over eighty thousand dollars in gold for the attempt to evade the law.

Michael Crowley, Fenian, was convicted at Sweetsburg, Canada, yesterday. Sentence postponed. His counsel moved an arrest of judgment on the ground that the jury were discharged without rendering a verdict. Morril, Carroll, McDonald, Gilliham and Holtered were discharged. There remains but one Fenian not yet tried.

Steamer Wrecked on Long Island Sound.

New York, Dec. 28.—Most of the passengers wrecked on the Sound steamer Commodore, arrived at 3 P. M. The steamer was struck by a heavy gale off Cornfield light at 10 P. M. last night. In an instant the starboard bow and bulkheads were carried away and a quantity of freight washed overboard. A heavy sea also swept into the fire-room and extinguished the fires under the boilers. This disabled the engines. A strenuous effort was made to bring the steamer's head to the wind, but without success. The steering gear became unmanageable though six men were at the wheel. At about 1 o'clock she had drifted within sight of Long Island shore. Anchors were then let off for the purpose of keeping her stationary until daylight. She then commenced filling with water, although the pumps were kept at work, and the passengers were set to bailing, so that Captain Curtis was obliged to slip the cable and let the steamer drift at will. After drifting over dangerous sand bar off Fenton's Point, she finally, at 6 o'clock A. M., came into smooth water and grounded on the beach three quarters of a mile from the village of Hermitage, near Southpole station on the Long Island Railroad. When the passengers left the steamer was rapidly breaking to pieces. The remaining passengers, one hundred in number, and 25 or 40 officers and crew were taken off by means of a small boat worked by ropes between the shore and the steamer. But little of the freight will be recovered. The beach is strewn with packages and boxes of cargo. The gale struck the steamer when she was within two hundred miles of New London. Had she passed over the bar of Horotous' at low water but few lives would have been rescued. Among the passengers was J. H. Day, President of the line. The kindest attention was given to the unfortunates by the people of Long Island. The commander had been in service fifteen years.

New York, Dec. 28.—The steamer Commodore, lost in the sound last night was valued at $150,000, and insured for $80,000.

The steamers Australasia and Palmyra have arrived with three days later European news.

The Tribune's Washington special despatch says: Secretary McCulloch's Tariff Bill as completed by Welles opposes the protective legislation of the House last session. Some articles are advanced and the free list is enlarged, but on the whole the bill re-enacts the existing law.

The press reports commence to-morrow, the 29th, at 12:45 P. M. instead of 11 P. M.

Fire in New York.

New York, Dec. 29.—A fire broke out this evening at No. 65 Pine street, occupied by Goddard & Edgerton, cotton dealers. Loss, $150,000. Insured. Thermometer 16 degrees above zero. A gale prevails.

The President to Give a Reception.

Washington, Dec. 28.—There is official authority for stating that at 11 A. M., January 1st, 1867, the President will receive members of the Cabinet, Foreign Ministers, Judges of the United States Supreme Court, Senators and Representatives in Congress, Judges of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia and the Court of Claims. At 11½ o'clock officers of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps will be received. The reception will commence at twelve o'clock, at which time the gates of the enclosure will be opened, and the reception will terminate at 2 o'clock, P. M. Ladies will be received.

American and French Shipping.

The President has issued a proclamation declaring that after January 1st vessels of the United States will be admitted to the same tonnage duties as the French in the ports of France, and therefore French vessels will be charged the same tonnage duties in our ports.

Project of a Mexican Loan.

The question of sustaining Juarez in war against Imperialist usurpation in Mexico, and the contending factions of that country for another year, involving as it does the safety of American interests, is being seriously discussed at the present time, and it is understood that a movement is on foot looking to the raising of a loan for that purpose. General Banks is said to be favorable to the proposition of a loan, and confidence is expressed that the committee will report a bill to that effect.

The Senate and House committee differ considerably in their views of Secretary Welles' tariff project, both further interchange of opinions will no doubt put the matter in a satisfactory light, soon after the [illegible] bling of Congress.

Constitutional Amendment.

A vigorous effort will be made to commit the two Houses to securing the admission of any single Southern State or any number of them, upon condition of accepting the Constitutional Amendment. Some of the Representatives of the South [illegible] that this proposition, as a finality, has never been made by Congress, and there is a growing desire that it should be made so as early after the recess as possible. Quite a number of Republican members stand pledged to vote for such a bill.

Washington, Dec. 28.—Advices from prominent politicians, say the Southern States have resolved to reject the Constitutional Amendment and other measures that would deprive them of their rights as members of the Union.

Representatives of the woolen interests are in strong force, and warm interest is demanding such duties as will prohibit foreign importations.

Jenkins Absent.

Washington, Dec. 28.—The President to-night visited the Masonic Fair by invitation. He was received by the Knights Templars with the honors of the order, a large number of spectators forming in line passed to where he was standing and paid their respects.

Massacre on the Plains.

Washington, Dec. 28.—A dispatch received at the headquarters of the army from Fort Laramie, confirms the statement that a terrible massacre occurred on Friday the 21st inst., near Fort Phil Kearney, in which Col. Fetterman, Capt. Brown and Lieutenant Grammon of the 18th Infantry, with 91 enlisted men of the 2d Cavalry and 18th Infantry were surrounded by Indians and every officer and man killed.

Gen. Grant has recovered from his recent sickness and was again at his office this morning.

Execution at Richmond.

Richmond, Dec. 28.—John G. Robertson, the murderer of the Minnick family, was hung to-day at Stafford Court House, Virginia. In his confession he said he had long determined on the deed, and acknowledged having robbed his uncle in Washington City of $800 in gold, but denied the murder of his cousin of which he had been suspected. He took his death coolly.

Missouri Affairs.

Jefferson City, Mo., Dec. 28.—A delegation from Lafayette county has been in consultation with Gov. Fletcher. In consideration of a fair promise that the citizens of that county will unite in enforcing the laws and driving out the bushwhackers, the Governor is said to have agreed with them that only a small force shall be left there and a large one within easy distance. The delegates speak highly of Col. Montgomery and his men.

The Lincoln Insitutute of this place, for the education of the colored youth, has received a donation of $2,000 from the Freedman's Bureau.

European News.

Portland, Me., Dec. 28.—The steamship New Scotia, Capt. Wyttc, has arrived from Londonderry. The "Forsaire's pence" offering in France since September, 1859, amounts to $52,000,000.

The Queen of Spain reached Lisbon December 16th and was received by the King at the railroad depot. The city was illuminated.

The royal receipt has allayed the apprehension by Hungary, notwithstanding the promises and acknowledgments of national right contained therein since the rejection of the diet for the immediate re-establishment of the Court has not been complied with. The address requests the Emperor not to render satisfactory reconciliation impossible by opposing the re-establishment of the legal basis of public affairs. It concludes by requesting His Majesty to give means and opportunities to the diet for effecting a satisfactory compromise, and by praying that an amnesty be extended to all political offenders.

Judge of the Second Judicial District.

A dispatch from Salem gives information that A. A. Skinner has been appointed Judge of the Second Judicial District. The appointment will doubtless give satisfaction to all except some unfortunate applicants. Judge Skinner has long been a resident of Oregon. For several years past he has resided at Eugene City.

Homicide at Victoria.—The Colonist of the 27th ult. has the following:

A man named William Taylor was arrested yesterday upon a charge of having caused the death of a Bella Bella Indian by hurling him from the balcony of a two-story house on Cormorant street to the ground, thereby inflicting such injuries as to cause his death within an hour after. The homicide occurred on Christmas day, about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Pemberton summoned a jury yesterday and held an inquest over the remains. In the evidence of Dr. Davie, Sr., it was shown that deceased died from compression of the brain, caused by the fall, which was fourteen feet. An Indian girl testified that she saw the prisoner knock deceased down on the balcony, kick him on the head and then raise him in his arms and throw him to the ground. Other witnesses were examined from whose evidence it appears that Taylor had been in the chainganng on a conviction of selling whiskey to Indians, and that he had been heard to declare that deceased's evidence was the means of his being convicted.

Seventeen of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, including both Adamses and Mr. Jefferson, were of Welch descent.

STATE ITEMS.

The Sentinel thinks that the steamer Del Norte, bound for Crescent City, will probably be able to reach that place and land her goods in time for the fall trade of the year. The Jacksonvillians are grumbling about the long continuance of the good storm.

The Jacksonville Sentinel says of the late storm: From all sources of information, the storm must have been much more severe in other localities than this valley. No communication was had over Scott Mountain, except on snow shoes, for eleven days, and many of the streams north and south of here were so badly swollen as to obstruct travel of any kind.

The Idaho Legislature, like that of Montana, has been at work repealing acts of Congress. The following in relation to the proceedings of that delectable body, is from the Boise Statesman:

Gov. Ballard sent back yesterday to the Council the bill to repeal the official oath prescribed by the territorial legislature at its second session, with his objections to signing it. The message is printed among the proceedings of the Council. The Governor's objections seem to be aimed at that clause of the bill which declares that no other oath shall be used or required of officers in this Territory. This, probably, is upon the presumption that though the legislature may repeal a former act of its own, it had no right to say that "no other shall be required;" for it is clearly the province of Congress to prescribe such oath as it may see proper. It may even be doubted whether the territorial legislature has a right to prescribe any other or less obligation than that prescribed by Congress. This whole matter about the oath of office was brought up last winter through the intense hatred the members of the last session had to taking the oath of allegiance to the United States. They were terribly hostile to "those test oaths" prescribed by the "abolition government." So they passed a bill to abolish the detested oath. Gov. Lyon was afraid to approve the bill lest the government at Washington would take exceptions to it. He was afraid to veto it, for that would make the Idaho legislature mad. He therefore devised a "compromise measure," and stole the bill. The present session has resurrected the matter by passing the present bill, which is almost a copy of the old one. The Council have apparently concluded to review the matter and see what they have been trying to do, and whether they can do it. We think the discussion will prove a decided benefit to the Territory, as it will keep the Council from doing mischief for a day or two.

The Olympia Tribune opposes the division of Washington Territory and the annexation of the Sound country. It says:

> If Oregon wishes to divide at the Cascades, so be it. The Western portion will then make a respectable State to size. If a territory is wished and desirable on the East, let it be formed out of portions of Oregon and Idaho, and if needs be, a portion of Washington Territory; if we must choose between two evils, we prefer the last, to let go the Eastern part, and keep our Territory as it is West of the mountains. We do not wish to commit ourselves to this policy, but our hope is so large that we would not fear for the future of our Territory even thus reduced in size. When the ships carrying the Asiatic commerce in great quantities shall enter the noble waters of the Sound and discharge their freight, to be conveyed by rail on East, and the exchange of the world is made here, Puget Sound will not be looked upon as such a trifling concern. Under no circumstances yet apparent do we feel disposed to surrender the honored name of Washington, especially to the newly proposed Territory until her loyalty and Unionism shall render her more worthy to wear it than at present. "By their fruits shall ye know them."

A member of the Cabinet has written a letter expressing a belief that the President will remain firm in his convictions, but that he will execute all laws which Congress may pass over his veto. Small thanks he will get for this condescension. Congress has power to compel him to do all this even if he were not inclined to.

A calculation of the salaries paid to preachers in this country, and the number of sermons preached, according to the New York Observer, shows that the average pay for sermons, taking the land through, is three cents a sermon!

The weather is miserable and gloomy, but everybody desiring to purchase a good suit of clothes will feel good when it is known that KOHN & FISHEL at the St. Louis store sells clothing at greatly reduced prices.

OFFICE PROCEEDINGS.—The Council met at their chamber, Thursday evening, January 3d, his Honor Mayor Holmes in the chair

Present, Messrs. Carson, Hallock, Lowndale, O Connor, Rosenheim and Zeuber

The proceedings of the last meeting were read and approved.

PETITIONS MEMORIALS &c

A communication from the Mayor on the general condition of the city finances and recommending various measures for retrenchment, was received and read

On motion of Mr Hallock the Auditor was instructed to furnish a copy of the message to each of the daily papers for publication

On motion of Mr Hallock the portions of the message relating to Marshal, Recorder and nuisances were referred to the Committee on Health and Police and the remaining portions to a spec al committee.

A further message was received from the Mayor returning an ordinance providing for improvements of marine square and certain other blocks belonging to the city, without his signature, and stating his objections thereto

The question then being put, shall the bill pass notwithstanding the veto—the vote was as follows

AYES—Messrs Carson, Lowndale and O'Connor—3

NAYS—Messrs. Hallock, Rechhenner Rosenheim and Zeuber 4.

So the bill failed to become an ordinance

A petition was received from John Donovan and others asking that a street lamp be set up at the S W corner of Third and Taylor streets The petition was granted and the Street Commissioner instructed to have the work done.

A petition was read from J Fleischner and others for a street lamp at the south-east corner of Fourth and Ankeny streets. Petition referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

A communication was received from W. P. Burke, contractor on B street, asking the appointment of a special committee to examine the work done and being done on that street.

On motion of Mr Lowndale such special committee was ordered.

A communication was received from Thomas Mountain, chairman of a committee appointed by Engine Co No 4, to purchase a Hook & Ladder truck, asking what price the Council will take for the one owned by the city

Mr. Hallock moved that the price be fixed at $75, and that the Committee on Streets and Public Property and the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department be author ized to sell it. The motion prevailed

A petition was received from H Cason representing that subsequently to his contract to put in cistern at junction of Seventh and Morrison streets, the grade had been lowered, costing him the extra price of $10 in excavation, and asking to have that amount paid him. Referred to the Committee on Fire and Water.

Dennison asked to be paid out of City Treasury witness fees in two cases in Recorder's Court, which had not been included in the report of the Recorder. Referred to the Committee on Health and Police.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Ways and Means, to whom had been referred the petition of Gallagher for reduction of property assessment reported adversely to the petition. The report was adopted.

The same committee reported favorably upon the petitions of H. Cook & Co. and E. Hamilton for reduction of assessment against was then incumbered with mortgages. The report was adopted after a lengthy discussion

The Committee on Streets and Public Property to whom had been referred a petition for the erection of a lamp at the North-west corner of Second and Alder streets, reported favorably thereon. The report was adopted and the work ordered done.

The Committee on River Improvements reported the following bills of sundries for the dredger, correct and ordered their payment Harbaugh & Stitzel. $6 19; E. J Northrop & Co., $662 75; A. Gray, $55, Willamette Iron Works, $72. The report was adopted and warrants ordered drawn for payment of the bills.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

The report of Engineer Walker was received and ordered to be placed on file. It states that no work has been done since Dec. 29th, in consequence of high water; that he has placed a tide gauge at the mouth of the river and prepared plans for Swan Island bar, that unless the river and stage of water should soon permit the bar to be removed with a prospect for continuing for some time, he would recommend that the work be delayed till spring. He thinks that, at the present stage of water on the bar, any vessel requesting this port can pass without difficulty. There is now thirteen feet of water on any part of the bar

On motion of Mr. Hallock the Committee on River Improvement was instructed to have the dredger laid up till further instructions from the Council.

COMMISSIONER APPOINTED.

The Mayor appointed as special committee on the Morrison Bridge, Messrs. Hallock, Zeuber and Carson

Committee to examine the work on B street, Messrs. Hallock and Carter

REPORT OF CITY TREASURER.

The report of the City Treasurer for the quarter ending Dec. 31st was read. The recapitulation is as follows:

Fund	in General and Special funds	$6,758 58
"	for improvement of Front street from Harrison to Harrison	171 60

"	for improvement of Front and North Market street	266 66
"	for improvement of B street.....	492 00
Total	.....	$8,304 96

CONDITION OF THE CITY JAIL.

The Mayor called the attention of the Council to the sanitary condition of the city jail for the confinement of persons awaiting trial, and stating that the Council had not been informed about the matter from the Marshal or some other city officer. He recommended that the matter be referred to the special committee to whom had been referred items of the message

Marshal Hoyt being permitted to make a statement said that he knew of no way to warm the jail without alterations in the interior arrangements, and that the condition of the jail was the same as it had been for

Mr. Zeuber inquired of the Marshal what would be the cost of the alterations necessary.

The Marshal replied that he had no means of judging what the cost would be, and went on to suggest what for warming the jail might be adopted

On motion of Mr Zeuber the whole matter was referred to the Mayor.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY.

The following bills were disposed of Portland Gas Co. for lighting the streets and Council Chamber during the month of December, $312. Ordered paid.

Portland Water Co. for water for December, $50. Ordered paid.

H. W. & A. for rent of Engine House No. 4, for December $20. Ordered paid.

Salary of R. Wilcox, City Auditor for December, $125. Ordered paid.

C. Bates for hauling lumber $4 50 Referred to the Street Committee for information as to the nature of the work.

The Pay Roll for December of men employed in River Improvements was reported by the Committee on River Improvements as correct, amounting in the aggregate to $881 81. Ordered paid.

READING OF ORDINANCES.

An Ordinance to repeal Ordinance No. 355—an ordinance to provide for letting contracts for repairs of streets and declaring all contracts let under that ordinance, null and void, was introduced by Mr. Hallock and read 1st time.

On motion of Mr. Lowndale, after a long discussion on the policy of repairing streets at the expense of the city, the ordinance was indefinitely postponed.

The ordinance levying county taxes for the year 1867, was read 2d time and referred to the special Committee on the same.

The Council adjourned.

THE MASQUERADE.—CHAPTER II.—Upon re-reading our notice of the masquerade, we find that several among the "distinguished" characters had been omitted. This was an inadvertence, which we attribute altogether to the sleepy-headed condition of the local editor on the day following the party He was not himself, by a long chalk, nor, in fact, any other man " We find in our notes that the Count Schneidenterdurp vollnski graced the party with his distinguished presence and delighted the company with his pure rendering of the Russian Polka which all understood quite as well as they did the tempo of how how yee yee kwong of the Chinese dignitaries

When the mask came off, the Count was transformed into Mr. A. P Elfelt A very brisk colored lady, in the very high toned African colors, put on more frills than most ladies of that persuasion know how to adjust, was gallanted about by a number of knights, in which the smoking room by-stalling for and smoking cigars, and performed, generally, quite a number of freaks that were purely Miss Dinah-like. Her movements, talk and dancing were so womanish that nobody suspected Mr A. Mayer of being enveloped in that particular crinoline till he removed his mask. Mr. Mayer's was one of the most complete disguises of the evening Mrs. Mayer personated a gipsy queen, was perfectly dressed and looked for the character and acted it as well as if she had followed fortune-telling all her life Paul Bachler was the name of the gentleman who was mentioned as personating Eaton We were particularly struck with the characters of Portici, a deaf mute, who flitted about everywhere flashing off pretty bits of pantomime speech, for want of a better means of communication with her fellows, and who acted the character so well that it was impossible not to feel sorry that so attractive a creature should be denied the power of utterance. Mrs. Gaskert was the Turkish slave mentioned in the programme. Mr. Henry Rosenfeld, a colored gentleman, sported a huge tin watch that drew immensely, and Mr [illegible], another minstrel, created great merriment with his entire dress, umbrella and luggage

WATCH A MOLE.—A couple of youngsters, evidently from some rural district, stepped into the store of Barman Bros., yesterday, and, after looking around for a short time, were asked by the attentive Barman what they would like to see. "Wal, yer see," said one of them, "we've come lost one o' our mules an' we want for buy a mother one." Barman told him he was just out of mules, and the greeny walked out, evidently disgusted at the want of variety in Barman's stock of goods

ROW OVER.—A boy of Mr Hayden of the firm of Carter & Hayden, very narrowly escaped being killed by being run over by a dirt cart, on Wednesday. He was employed in driving a horse attached to a dirt cart at the bridge on Front street Being ready to start, he got up on the horse instead of on the cart as usual, when the horse commenced kicking and throw the boy off. He fell between the wheel of the cart, and the horse. The latter started to run dragging the boy whose head hung down just in front of the wheel Fortunately a projecting wheel soon struck against the side walk and stopped the horse instantly and the boy was rescued from his perilous situation with no further hurt than a few unpleasant scratches. The cause of the accident was not known, but it is supposed some of the harness ran over by the wheel and cut in the shin

SMART BOY.—Jack Allyn has keeps a saloon on Front street and among other fixtures has a water vase, made to represent a goblin's head with great monstrous, staring eyes, a faucet to represent the nose, and a peculiarly vicious snake coiled about the neck A smart news-boy called in on Tuesday, and spying the goblin the following colloquy ensued

SMART BOY.—(to Jack) "What's that?"

JACK.—(who is a bit of a wag) That is the head of my brother—cut off in a battle during the war

SMART BOY.—Well, now, I needn't have asked that question I ought to have known he was your brother, by the family resemblance, the eyes are exactly like yours (Exit, Smart Boy Somebody laughed)

ACCIDENT TO THE SENATOR.—Yesterday morning as the Senator was on her way down from Oregon City, she encountered a dense fog some distance above Oswego, which shut out the view of both shores The Captain being afraid to go ahead, stopped the engine and let her float, it being equally dangerous to go ahead or to back her In a moment, the stern struck a rocky point in such a way as to break the wheel, though not badly, and to cripple the rudder It being then impossible to steer her, the Captain waited till the Alert came up and towed the Senator to Oswego, where repairs were made and she came down, arriving several hours behind her usual time.

A HEAVY JOB.—The Secretary of State some time ago purchased a large safe for the use of his office and upon getting it to Salem, could find no means of getting it into the upper story where it was designed to place it. He finally arranged with Messrs Parrish & Atkinson to raise it with their stump-pulling machine One of the parties went up with the machine and returned yesterday having just accomplished the piece of work. It required three days though the actual time spent in lifting was less than half a day The safe weighs 3,000 pounds It was purchased in San Francisco at a cost of $1,300

STEAMER ARRANGEMENT.—The States Rights Democrat is now engaged in an effort to run the P T Co. off the Willamettte river.—Columbia Press

The P T. Co lately, at a full meeting of the Directors, didn't conclude to run their boats any more on the "Willamette," on account of its being so long and crooked, but they will continue to run them on the Willamette as heretofore. At least, that's the way Bliss understands it.

WEDDINGS AND FUNERALS.—The Senator, yesterday, brought down 577 boxes apples, 20 half bbls lard, 18 bxs eggs, 1 barrel, 2 bales mdse, 1 pkge sacks, 2 bales goods, 1600 quarter sacks flour, 1 safe door, 6 boxes lard

The Alert brought down 149 boxes apples, 150 quarter sacks flour, 2 half bbls, 250 sacks feed, 7 pkgs stump machine 1 case woolen goods and 1 box mdse.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.—Hugh Ellis, one of ye noble red men, or as Gen. McDowell would say, "a child of the forest," was up before the Recorder yesterday for assaulting and battering another "child" of the same persuasion. Not being able to show sufficient provocation for doing the injury, he was fined $5 and costs which he paid in current chickamun of the U S, and klatawassed

HELD TO ANSWER.—Edward Leslie was brought before Justice Hoffman, yesterday morning, on a charge of stealing a wool mat from the store of Walter Bros It appearing that the property belonged to that firm and that the accused was found with it hid under his coat, Leslie was held to answer in the Circuit Court to a charge of grand larceny, and committed in default of $500.

TAYLOR'S HOTEL.—This house has been lately purchased by Mr J S. White late of the firm of White & Bennett, and is now fitted up in good style. Mr White is a generous liver himself and regular boarders, travelers or any other man, may depend on being served with the very best accommodations. Call on him at No 169, Front street.

STOCKHOLDER'S MEETING.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Oregon Iron Works, Thursday, January, 3d, the following directors were elected for the ensuing year A. C Gibbs, D. McCully, H Bloomfield, S. Coffin and W. S. Powell

NEW BOOT AND SHOE STORE.—Messrs. Grabenheim & Cohen advertise this morning, the opening of their new boot and shoe store on Front street. Consult their advertisement.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The several Public Schools of this city will be re-opened next Monday, under the same auspices as heretofore.

In the first issue of 1867 Barman Bros. take pleasure in announcing that they have succeeded in obtaining that popular stand on the corner of Front and Morrison where they will be happy to meet their old friends about the first of February next.

"Man wants but little here below
Nor wants that little long"

But what he does want he should get of the best quality and for the least money possible, whether it be a meerschaum pipe, cigars, chewing or smoking tobacco, fancy goods or Yankee notions, and we advise them to buy of Stone & Norman, on the N E. corner of Front and Washington streets.

A child can operate a Grover & Baker Sewing Machine. It sews from two common spools, makes a stitch stronger than that made by hand, and its simplicity is marvelous in comparison to its capacity. The elegant embroidery which is now so popular is all executed by this celebrated sewing machine. WM. CUSHING & Co., agents, 103 Front street, Portland

Attention Portland Zouave Cadets.—Regular monthly meeting this evening at 7 o'clock. Let all come as business of importance will be disposed of.

IMPORTANCE OF HAVING DAVIS' PAIN KILLER ALWAYS ON HAND.

Wonderful Cure of the Rev D L. Brayton, Missionary in India, who was stung by a Scorpion.

Extract from his letter, published in the Baptist Missionary Magazine

"For the first time since I have been in India, I have been stung by a scorpion I went out this morning to my exercises, as usual, at early dawn, and having occasion to use an old box, on taking off the cover I put my hand on a scorpion, which immediately resented the insult by thrusting its sting into the palm of my hand. The instantaneous and severe pain which darted through the system is quite incredible; what an awful virulent pain their sting must contain I ran to my sorrie or Davis' Pain Killer, and found it to be true to its name, after a few moments' relief, I saturated a small piece of sponge found it on my hand, and went about by exercises, feeling no more particular inconvenience."

An Old Hand

Blue-veined hand would I quickly and fervently draw
That long have known me as unswerving friend
Some hearts in all reality familiar is—
Some in the crowd I number

Clasped hand the land in the day
When it was little cut and white—
Mother who kiss and answered
To rest till the waking God's good light

Clasped a lover's hand years ago
Who sailed away and left her in tears
Under Southern climes
Has been true within years and years

Clasped the hand of friends in time
Who held it softly and fell asleep
And in kindness and never ceased
How long that impress this would keep

Clasped many so many —— now
That still respond to the living will
Or can answer the pressure as kind and true —
So many that I've moved on still

Clasped at last this hand—this own,
And mine will in quiet feet, in turn,
Will any clasp it when I am gone?
In vain I study this hand to learn

A Steamboat on the Grand Canal of Venice—Indignant Gondoliers and a Race

A lively correspondent of an English paper thus describes his voyage through the Grand Canal of Venice in a steamboat

Another whistle and another startled the echoes of the old palaces on the Grand Canal, whilst we glided past them at our utmost speed, or shut off steam and put the helm hard over to avoid collision with some rash gondola which crossed our bows Then there was an interchange of compliments, in the smooth Venetian dialect, between our captain and the gondoliers—suave in manner but strong in substance, and, with rapid strokes of the screw, we glided on once more At the Rialto we were delayed by a number of laden barges, which had become entangled in the narrow channel beneath the bridge, and as we moved forward very slowly we could hear a comical water carrier interspersing his regular cry with the names of his King and his country—"Fresh water for Victor Emanuel!" "Fresh water for United Italy!" and so on through several artistic variations There was a roar of applause at each addition to the song, although prudence forbade the people to join in, as they would fain have done

The steamboat created no little sensation as she advanced upon her course What with shouts and stoppages, hair breadth escapes from collision, and ironical cheers from small boys, who ran by the side when there chanced to be a footpath, we felt sure that Venice was aware of our movements Perhaps the gondoliers were jealous of their formidable rival. Perhaps they took the matter philosophically, and remembered that the railway viaduct would soon be re opened for general traffic, and would supercede the present ferrying to Mestre Certain it is that we had a race across the Lagoon with a three oared gondola, and a close race, too Jealous or no, the men struggled hard to keep their lead of 20 boats' length, or thereabouts, they made their oars bend and seemed as though they would fall on their noses should anything go wrong The steersman, perched high upon the pointed stern, with his whole figure clearly visible, was a study of graceful strength and skill How he stooped and strained to give force to his strokes How deftly he combined guiding the others with helping them on. They never looked back, but they knew that we were close behind, for our engine puffed loudly in token of high pressure, and our whistle was by no means silent.

On we went and on they went, vessels were met and vessels were overtaken The Custom House, at the entrance of the Mestre canal, grew plainly visible, and the distance between us lessened at every stroke They touched for an instant, sprang out, spoke to the officials, pushed off again, and were gone before we were even land alongside. In vain did steam bring us near them once more, as we approached the fort of Malghera. Bono and muscle were favored by fortune, for the single passenger in the gondola had his passport quickly examined, whilst we steamboat passengers were kept waiting until a servant of the Emperor had ascertained that we were all legally entitled to go ashore. So, when the rest of the canal had been traversed, and we arrived at Mestre, the three gondoliers sat there watching us, with broad grins upon their sunburnt faces

The King of Prussia.

[From the "Fortnightly Review."

The most fortunate man in Europe is probably at this moment the King of Prussia. This monarch, who is close upon 70, has neither been fortunate in youth nor in manhood He was brought up with excessive strictness and pedantry, and had to listen from his childhood upward to the reproach that his elder brother, the late Frederick William IV., surpassed him in every kind of talent. He threw himself with zest into industry than ability into military studies, commanded for 30 years at numberless parades, unceasingly busied himself with military details, often plagued both himself and his soldiers with very unnecessary matters, and knew so much about every regimental button of the whole of the Prussian army that he at last thought himself a great general, and yearned after the moment in which he would be able to measure his strength and that of his army with some enemy, which he would have preferred to be France. He had taken part in the War of Independence against Napoleon, but only in his youth, when he occupied a subordinate position, which gave him no scope for the development of his military talents He therefore wished for a great war, but long wished for it in vain. Instead of a war the Revolution of 1848 broke out. He could now only employ the military qualities which he had hoped to use against a foreign enemy against the Revolutionists who fought at the barricades in Berlin; but whether he was seized with a sudden fit of tardiness, or was obliged to follow the orders of his Royal brother, he allowed the people who attacked the place to enter it, instead of defending it to the utmost, while he fled to London in order to avoid the unpopularity which was attached to his name. In fighting the Revolutionists of Baden he also won no laurels.

The Revolutionary army which had collected around the remnants of the Frankfort Parliament was, it is true, at length dispersed, but the Prussians, whose numbers were ten times those of the enemy, suffered reverses in this unequal contest which they never would have been exposed to under more skillful leadership, and the Prussian military tribunals acted with such severity against the vanquished under the presidency of the Prince that the latter is to this day cordially detested in the whole of Southern Germany, and especially in Baden. At Court in Berlin his position was also anything but a pleasant one He had for years been on terms of merely formal courtesy with his brother, whose character was the very opposite of his own, and his position became utterly intolerable, in consequence of the coldness which existed between his wife and the Queen. He came more and more seldom to Berlin where the Kreuz Zeitung Party intrigued against him at Court unceasingly, and often in the coarsest way. The heir presumptive thus lived in a sort of exile, and the childless King, although he had long been sickly, would not die At length he was attacked by disease of the brain, which made it necessary to establish a Regency, and from that time forward the life of the Prince, now King William I. became a brighter one; for, thanks to the evil reputation which attached to the former opponents, the Kreuz Zeitung men, in the whole country, he at length attained a certain popularity, and entered on the duties of the regency accompanied by the best wishes of the people.

King William is a man who cannot very well do without popularity, the first days of the regency were, therefore, perhaps the happiest he had known since a boy. Unfortunately his happiness was not of long duration He could not agree with the Liberal party and the weak minded Ministers with which it had provided him, and by degrees he fell into the power of those very Kreuz Zeitung men who had embittered his life when he was Crown Prince, and who at length pressed upon him Herr von Bismarck as Premier It cost him a hard struggle before he could decide on such an appointment, and it gave him great pain to perceive that, though he desired nothing more than to be honored as the father of his people, he was no longer cheered by the Berliners in the streets, but he was still impressed with the firm conviction that all he had done was for the good of his country. Fortunate old man! that which he had aspired to for half a century has been given him toward the decline of his life first a little war against Denmark, and a short time after, a great, unprecedentedly glorious and brilliant war against Austria, the formidable neighbor of Prussia in Germany He has united his son and the Princess of his house as victorious on the battle field of Koniggratz, where he himself nominally held chief command, he has made Prussia the master of Germany and the powerful neighbor of France, he has (as he himself may honestly believe) been selected by God as the special instrument of his providence he has proved to his people that he understands more about military matters than the Liberal deputies in the Chamber, who wished to baulk his plan for the organization of his army and he has finally entered his capital in triumph at the head of his victorious troops, in the midst of the enthusiastic rejoicings of the whole population—which is generally not over disposed to make any very strong demonstration of feeling These are in truth moments of great happiness, such as few monarchs have enjoyed at so advanced an age.

A Feminine Freak.—The Portland, (Maine) correspondent of the Boston Herald gives the details of a singular freak on the part of a young lady, a resident of a neighboring town, and which has just been brought to light under ridiculous circumstances He says

It seems that frequently during the past year she has been in the habit of getting herself up as a man, and coming to town on the cars In her disguise she would stroll about the city to her heart's content and return home to tell the few friends in the secret of the fun she had enjoyed If spoken to, she feigned deafness The somewhat female form had become quite familiar on our streets, but none dreamed that beneath those gray hairs nestled soft auburn ringlets that behind those green goggles sparkled a pair of roguish eyes that at the sandy old coat covered shoulders that might rival those of Venus that within those tattered unmentionables were the ample and rounded limbs of blooming young womanhood, or that that unusual stoop of the old gentleman was quite necessary to conceal a certain plumpness about the front part of the waistcoat But our romantic young heroine came to grief Protracting her strolls too long the other day, the train was leaving just as she limped into the depot In her anxiety to get on board she forgot her years and ran after it with such vigor as to astonish the natives "My hies, Johnny, look at that old coon go it," exclaimed an enthusiastic newsboy, 'hain't he a lively old cock!' A smart run enabled the foolish girl to throw herself upon the rear platform, but just as she did so away went her hat, wig and goggles Two gentlemen on the rear platform were considerably astonished but the young lady had sufficient presence of mind to explain, in a few frightened sentences, the position of affairs, and it being night fall, the gentlemen, who proved to be the genuine article, got the girl to her home without further publicity. The young lady sustains an excellent character, and it is hardly necessary to add that the "oldest inhabitant" has terminated her funloving proclivities in that line

How Fashionable Ladies are Got Up—Anna Cora Mowatt, in a late London letter, says

There was a time when ladies confined their passion for enamel chiefly to jewelry, but infatuated fair ones of our day are zealously laboring to make game of their own countenances, the enameler presides at hundreds of toilettes, and would be beautiful lavish their gold upon Madame Rachel and her followers, in exchange for alabaster skins and blooming cheeks, bright eyes and furrowless faces Happy the man who woos a bride that does not "come and go"—that is, "come in the morning and go away at night," as the wits in the "School for Scandal" phrase it—a complexion which "her maid cannot fetch." Happy the lover whose kiss of betrothal, pressed upon the lip that has the hue of the strawberry, does not taste of the druggist's compound The time will come when the masculine, looking with suspicion upon the countenances that out bloom the rose and dim the luster of the pearl—upon eyes too phenomenally bright, lips too rubious, hair too abundant and shiny—will find more attraction in a few natural imperfections, and judge the genuineness of charms within by the absence of those which can be secured by art on the surface

It chances that we have just received from a reliable source a full description of Madame Rachel's skillful manipulations, and you may be amused by this initiation into the mysteries of that surface beauty now so common among European ladies

First among the beautiful appliances, when awful beauty puts on all her charms, comes the Vestrices enamel—an elastic pigment, which fills up all indentations of the skin, pockmarks, furrows, scars It is the same color as the flesh, and yields to the movement of the muscles. After being carefully filled, wherever requisite, the whole face is washed with blanc de perles. A delicate powder called "bloom of roses" is then applied in small quantities to the cheeks [Not the rouge or carmine used by actresses to neutralize the ghastly blue glare cast up by the footlights.] Next, eye color is employed to impart expression to the eyes The eye color consists of three preparations—the first to darken the eye-brows, perfect their shape and add to their upper and lower lashes, the second to remove crows' feet, and the third, which is a peculiar bluish powder, lightly laid on just under the eye, to increase its apparent size and add brilliancy Another preparation stains the lips and gums, a "natural looking" red—unnatural looking, from its extreme brightness, would be the more correct description A powerful destructive whitens the teeth (and probably hastens their decay), the unsightly hairs growing out of the moles and the unfeminine down shading the upper lip, are destroyed by depilatories, freckles and skin stains are removed by a paste, which is said to compose them and form a new court skin, tresses of any shade receive the much admired hay color, or golden hue, from "Albanian water," or any darker tint, by the use of some other hair wash and the nails are rendered delicate and induced to grow in the form required by nail shields worn at night

Will it be believed that in London one sees hundreds of women—not the unfortunates of the "demi monde," but ladies, well bred, well dressed, highly educated, ladies of irreproachable reputation, and moving in good society, who daily assume their enamel mask with their garments.

The two Races of the South—The editor of the Mobile Times is in an exceeding vein turn of mind in regard to what he terms "Black Man Worship," assumed to be prevalent in the North Of the relations between the races in the Southern States, he says

As to the people of the South, they love the negro because they know him and need him—and until, by the wise decrees of Providence, the land becomes more populated, the negro has a task to fulfill as well as the white man, and that is, to labor for his daily bread, but the moment he ceases to become a burden to society, and society will cast him off.

All the anti slavery associations in Christendom will never save him from that fate which, till accomplished, it is the duty of every citizen in the South to encourage and foster in the negro the best habits of industry and order, which may, perhaps, delay his impending doom The South has done it, and is doing it now, not by teaching the negro to read a Mormon Bible—its favorite cluage—but by tendering him the natural comforts of life in exchange for his labor

A BUSHWILER, Claim Agent.

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE PAYMENT OF BOUNTIES, UNDER THE ACT TO EQUALIZE BOUNTIES APPROVED JULY 28, 1866

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON, September 10, 1866

1. All applications will be filed within the period of six months, from the 1st day of October, 1866, and before any payments are made, shall be classified by regiments battalions, or other separate organizations and no applications filed after the period allowed will be settled until after the former shall have been paid

2 No application shall be entertained unless accompanied by the original discharge of the soldier and the affidavit required by the fourteenth section of the Act, and the latter affidavit that he has not received nor is he entitled to receive from the United States under any laws or regulations prior to the Act of July 28 1866, more than $100 bounty for any and all military service rendered by him during the late rebellion, or extra labor or commutation thereof claimed

3. All applications for the additional bounty authorized by this Act from survivors, soldiers at all be in the form hereafter prescribed and it would not of identity shall be the claim is now required and applications from the heirs of deceased soldiers shall be in the form now required by the Treasury Department

4 As soon as the examination of the claims of any regiment, or other independent organization shall have been completed and acted upon the Paymaster General shall take the necessary steps for their prompt payment

5 A register shall be kept in the Paymaster General's office, and also in the office of the Second Auditor, of all claims presented under the Law in which the claimants will be classified by regiments etc If the claims be allowed the amount of bounty paid to each will be noted, and if rejected the cause of rejection will be distinctly stated

6 In the applications for bounty, as required by the third of these rules the affidavit shall state each and every period of service rendered by the claimant, and also that he never served otherwise than as herein stated

7 Organizations irregularly in the service of the United States, called out for special purposes as State Militia, Home Guards etc, and not included in the general bounty laws, are not included within the meaning of the Act.

8 Soldiers enlisted for "three years or during the war," who were discharged by reason of the termination of the war, shall be considered as having served out the period of their enlistment, and are entitled to bounty under this Act

9 The minority of those claimants for bounty under the Act, must be proven to have existed at the date of its passage Parents shall receive no title to the bounty to which they may be entitled as heirs, unless the father has abandoned the support of his family in which case it shall be paid to the mother Non residence in the United States shall not be a bar to the claim of heirs who would otherwise legally inherit

The provisions of the Act exclude from its benefits the following classes

1 Those who after serving the full period of their enlistment, were dishonorably discharged at its expiration

2 Those discharged during enlistment by way of favor or punishment

3 Those discharged on account of disability contracted in the service, before occasioned by wounds received in the line of duty," who should not have previously served two or three years respectively at the time of discharge

4 Those discharged on account of disability existing at the time of their enlistment

5 The heirs of those who have died since their discharge of wounds or disease not contracted in the service and to the list of duty

6 The surviving soldiers and heirs of deceased soldiers who, under previous laws, have received or are entitled to receive a bounty of more than $100 from the United States

7 The surviving soldiers, as well as the heirs of deceased soldiers when such soldiers have bartered sold, assigned, loaned transferred exchanged or given away their final discharge papers or any interest in the bounty provided by this or any other Act of Congress

8. The Act of the 28th of July 1866, creates no right of inheritance beyond those vested by the laws under which these heirs received or were entitled to receive the original bounty, and it bars certain classes of heirs and sisters of heirs that were entitled to receive the original bounty, from any claim for the additional bounty provided by this Act

Respectfully referred to the Attorney General for his opinion on the point whether the rules and regulations as within amended are in conformity with law

EDWIN M STANTON, Secretary of War

September 14 1866

I have examined these model regulations and am of opinion they are in conformity with law
